Court of Common Pleas

Answer of Palmer. She said Jackie Palmer for her separate answer says that after the execution and delivery of said notes and the said mortgage securing the same the said Rupert for full and valuable consideration paid by this defendant and agreed to be paid with and conveyed to this defendant the following portions of the premises described in said plaintiff's petition to wit: Forty four Acres more or less land in the township of Northampton and county of Washt County Ohio which said premises are included in said mortgage and that said premises so conveyed are not owned and held by said defendant and further that the remaining portion of the premises not conveyed to this defendant are ample and sufficient to constitute security for the payment of said plaintiff's claim without detracting the defendant and as her title to and possession of said premises as conveyed to her all of which said plaintiff will have when they received said note and mortgage. And that defendant believes that the remaining premises were sufficient security to satisfy said mortgage secured said mortgage in good faith this defendant therefore may let said plaintiff to be required to first exhaust the premises yet owned by said Rupert and not conveyed to this defendant before offering for sale the premises conveyed to this defendant as aforesaid and that she be protected in the first and preferable possession of said premises as conveyed to her and for general relief

In Court of Common Pleas

Reply

And now comes the B. S. Rupert and for his reply to the answer of Jackie Palmer says it is true that he sold and conveyed to her the undivided one half of all the land described in said plaintiff's petition and mortgage which conveyance was made after plaintiff's mortgage was executed delivered and recorded by plaintiff and said Palmer purchased all of said interest in said land with knowledge of the mortgage and subject to the mortgage as expressed in the deed where both have also then agreed to pay one half of said mortgage indebtedness and take said land subject thereto and by an agreement between and Jackie Palmer she is to pay $774. of Ruperts share of the note in said mortgage last due which payments she has not paid except $62.75 on the first note there is due from her by said agreement to plaintiff $62.75 with interest from the date of said note and will be due from her to plaintiff on December 11th 1878 $62.75 with interest from date of said $774. due from her to plaintiff at same time with interest thereon and avers that it will require under the present pressure in the market all of said land to pay the amount claimed all of which she promises to pay and said contract is expressed in the deeds to her from Rupert for said land the said Rupert therefore says that the land deeded by her to said defendant ought to be subrogated to the payment of said amount and defendant says that if Jackie Palmer will settle with plaintiff the amount due from her that he will settle his part with plaintiff and release her land from every joint incumbrance due from to plaintiff
