Below are the Julian Calendar dates for the festivals celebrated by the ancient church as determined by the rules of the Calculated Hebrew Calendar as stated by Hillel but modified by Herman L. Hoeh. According to Hoeh before CE 256 the years in a cycle that were leap (embolismic) years were: 2, 5, 7, 10, 13, 16, 18.
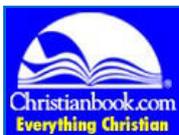

In the chart below the dates for Pentecost have been determined by the priestly method of counting 50 days beginning with the Sunday on which the priests offered the wavesheaf during the Days of Unleavened Bread. Since the Days of Unleavened Bread consist of seven days there can be only one Sunday during the festival. The wavesheaf offering must occur during the Days of Unleavened Bread. When Passover occurs on a weekly Sabbath the Sunday during the Days of Unleavened Bread is also the first annual Sabbath (Nisan 15). The method for determining Pentecost utilized by the Pharisees was to count the 50 days from Nisan 15 (the first annual Sabbath or Passover Sabbath) which fixed for them Sivan 5 as Pentecost.

Pentecost always occurs on a Sunday. Leviticus 23:15 states that Pentecost is counted "from [beginning with] the day after the sabbath, from the day when you brought in the sheaf of the wave offering..." The priests performed the wavesheaf offering on Sunday, that is on the day after the weekly Sabbath. With a Sunday the first day, seven full weeks (or forty-nine days) takes one to the fiftieth day, again on a Sunday. One counts 50 days beginning with the Sunday of the wavesheaf offering, during the Days of Unleavened Bread, which is the day after a regular weekly Sabbath not an annual Sabbath.

Before you can count fifty days to Pentecost, you need the starting point, which is the Sunday of the wavesheaf offering. The table below is an overview of the relationship of Passover and the wavesheaf offering:

Passover (Nisan 14)	Wavesheaf Offering	Days After Passover
Friday (Thurs. eve)	Nisan 16 (Sunday)	2
Wednesday	Nisan 18	4
Monday	Nisan 20	6
Sabbath	Nisan 15	1

Below is a chart providing the Hoeh dates of the principal festivals and holy days (Annual Sabbaths) for the 19 year cycle beginning 22 CE and ending 40 CE.
